

Dr. Manzoor A. Shah holds master's degree in Botany from the University of Kashmir and worked for his Ph.D. jointly in the University Laval, Quebec, Canada and University of Kashmir. He currently teaches at the Department of Botany, University of Kashmir and has been a faculty affiliate at the University of Montana, USA and a Visiting Professor at King Saud University, Riyadh. His basic research interests include plant invasions from a biogeography and molecular ecological perspective. He has published one book and more than 60 high impact research papers and book chapters, in recognition of which he has been awarded several national and international fellowships and prestigious awards, such as the Indo-US 21st Century Knowledge initiative award (formerly known as Obama-Singh Award), DBT-CREST Award-2012, Gold Medal from Indian Academy of Environmental Sciences, Paryavaran Mitra Award, the Canadian Commonwealth Exchange Fellowship (Asia-Pacific), Doctoral Internship Award by the Canadian Bureau of International Education (CBIE), and Young Scientist Grant Award by Federation of European Microbiological Societies (FEMS) etc. Dr Shah has supervised five PhD and nine M.Phil scholars. He is the Principal Investigator and coordinator of many national and international network projects including an Indo-US, Indo-German and Indo-Canadian project. Dr. Shah has travelled quite widely as an invited speaker at various scientific meetings/conferences within India and abroad, especially in the countries such as USA, Canada, Germany, Sweden, Hungary, Saudi Arabia and France. Dr. Shah is currently heading the Directorate of Internal Quality Assurance at University of Kashmir.

